Craig

Craig started at Preferred Joinery as an apprentice around 25 years ago and is still here today.

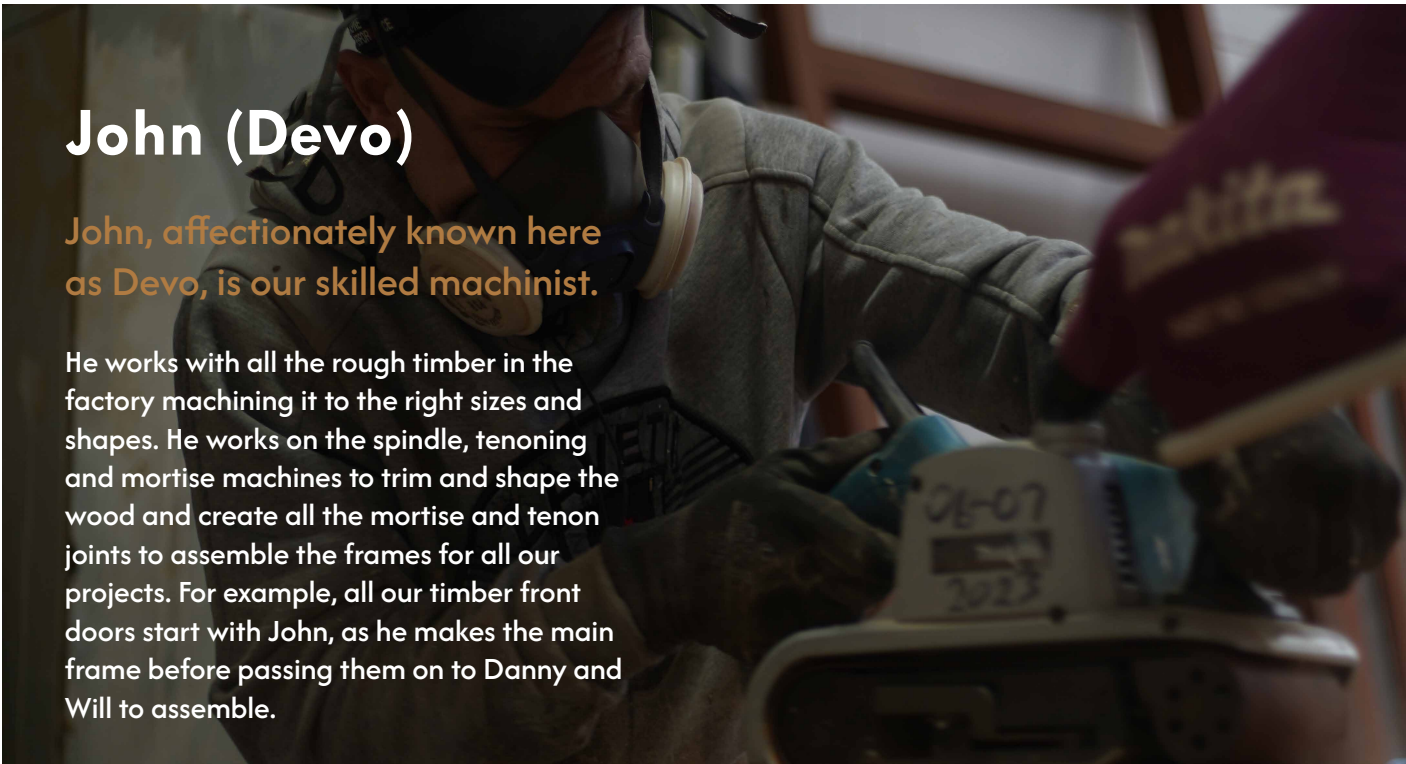

Now an incredibly skilled joiner, Craig completes all the finishing touches to each piece we produce. He makes all the beading and decoration and gets all our pieces sanded, dressed up ready to fit and prepped ready to be painted. He's the main man for finishing off all our bespoke timber doors, installing all the different panels and levels of decoration that make them come

John (Devo)

John, affectionately known here as Devo, is our skilled machinist.

He works with all the rough timber in the factory machining it to the right sizes and shapes. He works on the spindle, tenoning and mortise machines to trim and shape the wood and create all the mortise and tenon joints to assemble the frames for all our projects. For example, all our timber front doors start with John, as he makes the main frame before passing them on to Danny and Will to assemble.
